Vacation as Always.

Vacation as always. Of course. The past year has been a strenuous one for most of us. Next year is likely to demand even greater responsibilities and greater activities. The summer is the time for the renewal of energy. It is time for all of us to plan to get into the mountains and the woods, by the pellucid lake or by the ocean's side. Perhaps the vacation may be made simpler or less expensive than in other years. The old doctor was right who pronounced the word re-creation. It is a mistake to use up energy to the extent where work rides us. We should all take time to play a little in the outdoor so that we may return to work with more enthusiasm and more capacity. In this connection we advise home residents to see Vermont first. Most people know but little about their own state, aside from what they have seen from car windows or visits to a few of the larger towns. Communion with nature and visits to the silent places will help. There is a wealth of mountain and lake scenery and charming resorts almost at our doors. Let's go.—Brattleboro Reformer.

Fake Geologists.

It sometimes happens that men who have no connection with the geological survey of the interior department pass themselves off as members of that organization, either to invest themselves with unmerited importance or to obtain information or facilities that might otherwise be denied them. It should be generally known to the public that each member of the federal geological survey carries an identification card signed by the secretary of the interior and the director of the survey, and he is always ready to produce this card on request, should there be any question of his official standing.

Recently a person giving his name as George H. Smith has been reported from Oregon as representing that he is employed by the United States geological survey "to look up minerals for it." There is no such name on the rolls of the survey, and anyone bearing it who claims to be doing work for the United States geological survey in Oregon should be treated as an impostor.

Markets for Farm Machinery in Chile and Peru.

That the steady development of the agricultural resources of Chile and Peru means a growing market for American farm machinery is the conclusion reached in a report made public to-day by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, of the department of commerce.

In several agricultural-equipment lines the Chilean market is full of possibilities, states the report. The country is certain to expand, but the development will be slower than in Argentina because Chile is not receiving a large immigrant population that takes to agriculture. Expansion in Chile will be brought about through the natural increase in the population and the demand for greater quantities of foodstuffs. The United States now supplies a large part of the farm equipment imported into Chile.

Peru offers a much more restricted market for such supplies than Argentina, Brazil and Chile, and the chances for improvement in the near future are not bright.

The bureau's report has a chapter on the agricultural conditions in Chile and Peru, and one on the markets for particular lines of equipment, in which the demand for each type of implement is described. There is also a chapter devoted to trade methods and suggestions for developing a larger business. Copies of "Markets for Agricultural Implements and Machinery in Chile and Peru," special agents series No. 132, may be purchased at five cents each from district and co-operative offices of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce or from the superintendent of documents, government printing office, Washington, D. What Farmers Think About the War.

One farmer, writing in Farm and Fireside, says in the June issue:

"I am a market gardener," he writes in a bold hand, "and I can't keep from saying a word in regard to the war. We did not want war. No good citizen wants his country in war if it can be avoided.

"Our president has stood the abuse, it seems to me, no longer than it is possible to endure abuse and preserve respect. He has done the only thing that could be done. Every other course has been exhausted even to the patience of a saint. Now, what are the people going to do? The question is easy and the answer should be clear to every man, woman and child; get square behind the president and support him in every possible way. If you are a true American, you will.

"The greatest army we can put against our enemy should be called to arms at once. And those who work on farms should arm themselves with plows, hoes, planters, grain drills, harrows and cultivators. Every farmer should get on once plant every spare foot of land."

This Auto Saves and Makes Money.

A woman writes to the Woman's Home Companion and says in the July issue:

"The fact that our car is making nine dollars to-day encouraged me to write you how it saves us money, and even makes money for us.

"My husband is a salesman for a wholesale grocery house in P. Until last August we made our home there; he was away all week except Saturday and part of Sunday. His house allows him a certain amount per month for traveling expenses, hotel bills, etc.

"In June we bought a five-passenger car, and then moved to a little town in

Juice of Lemons! How to Make Skin White and Beautiful

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as sallowness, freckles and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoother and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is wonderful to smoothen rough, red hands.—Adv.

the center of my husband's territory. He can be at home every night, and with the car cover more ground in a day than he could on the train, also calling on towns too far away from the railroad to be reached by train. Thereby, he has increased his business and put himself in line for a 'raise.'

"We save real money by not having to pay his hotel bills, and gasoline doesn't cost as much yet as railroad fare. We also save five dollars a month house rent, and light and water do not cost as much here as at home."
